

93 Known Dead In Tidal Wave That Slashes U. S., Hawaii

Hilo, Hawaii, April 2 (AP)—The death toll in the eastern Pacific's worst seismic wave disaster reached 93 today and a naval officer estimated the loss of life in Hilo (Hawaii)—chief victim of the boiling seas—might total 300.

Damage ran into the millions of dollars. A submarine earthquake which geologists called world-shaking sent giant swells fanning out from the north Pacific at 400 to 500 miles an hour yesterday. Beaches on Hawaii, the Aleutians and California were lashed by 10 to 100-foot waves.

The death toll: Hawaiian Islands—60 bodies recovered at Hilo; nine on Oahu, seven on Maui and six on Kauai Islands.

Unimak, the Aleutians—ten men swept to sea from the Scotch Cap lighthouse.

California—One man swept to sea from the Santa Cruz beach. Many were missing in Hilo and in rural Laupahoehoe, but the number was not known.

Many Seek Shelter At Honolulu, William W. Monahan, chairman of the Hawaii Red Cross, estimated that not more than 4,000 refugees asked for shelter in all of the Hawaiian Islands. Of these, 1,800 were on Oahu and 800 in Hawaii Islands.

Territorial Gov. Ingram Stainback invoked the Hawaiian defense act "for the safeguarding of life and property and the preservation of law and order" in wave-ravaged areas.

Casualty reports appeared to be complete from all damaged areas except the island of Hawaii, on which Hilo with its 25,000 population is located.

There was some hope that Hilo's death toll might not reach the naval officer's 300 estimate. A score of persons previously reported missing had been saved from the waters off Hawaii by army and navy aircraft rescue planes and small surface craft.

One, a 21-year old school teacher, Miss Marsue McGinnis, was rescued after eight hours in the water.

There was hope also that the waves might not recur today, as feared for a time last night.

Herbert C. Shipman, Hilo sugar planter, said $700,000 worth of raw sugar was swept into the ocean with (Please Turn to Page 6)

ICE, STORAGE PAYS $20 FINE FOR CUPOLA JOB

The Gettysburg Ice and Storage company, which a month ago was cited by Borough Engineer LeRoy H. Winebrenner as having "erected a frame construction cupola on an elevator shaft at its North Washington street plant," recently "consented" to the payment of a $20 fine and costs "for failure to obtain a building permit," but the company "still has not applied for a permit nor complied with the ordinance relative to construction within the fire zone," Mr. Winebrenner told borough council Monday evening, "nor has it removed the cupola."

At the March meeting council left with Burgess C. A. Heiges the enforcement of the ordinance. Mr. Winebrenner declared that this was the third offense for the company, and that it was "not fair to other property owners to allow a corporation to get away with it." Winebrenner threatened to quit his job as building inspector unless the situation was remedied.

No Permit Application

The burgess reported Monday night that he had recommended a fine of $20, and that the company had consented and paid the fine and costs to Justice of the Peace John H. Basehore, who is also borough treasurer. He informed council that he had no authority to impose a fine himself. The burgess reported also that the company had agreed to comply with the fire zone ordinance by placing galvanized metal on the outside and inside of the cupola, but admitted that they had not yet applied for a permit.

Borough Counsel Eugene V. Bulleit said a meeting had been held in his office at which the fine was agreed upon, and at which the company said it had "forgotten" to get a building permit.

Mr. Winebrenner declared that he interviewed the carpenter and told him to stop work, and also served similar verbal notice on a plant employee, but did not contact C. Arthur Brame, plant manager, when he saw the work being started at 8 a. m., February 27. He said work was not stopped, and the job completed the next day.

To Inspect Work

He added that "the company is still not complying with the ordinance," in his opinion, declaring that "three sides at least" of the cupola should be of brick or similar construction, and adding that timbers covered by metal did not meet the requirement.

The borough ordinance provides, Mr. Winebrenner said, for a minimum fine of $10 for each violation of the fire zone ordinance, with each day that such construction is allowed to remain, considered a separate offense. The cupola construction has been completed since February 28, he said.

Council Monday night directed that members of the safety committee and Mr. Winebrenner make an inspection of the construction in question, and submit a report at the next meeting.

SAYS 'RASH' OF SIGNS HERE LIKE CONEY ISLAND

The "rash of signs" in Gettysburg "gives the community the appearance of the midway at Coney Island rather than a historical center," Francis A. Pitkin, executive director of the state planning board, told members of Rotary Monday evening at their regular meeting in the YWCA.

Speaking on "Community Planning and Zoning," Pitkin told the Rotarians "you do have an interest in zoning, in seeing that nothing detracts from the charm of Gettysburg, minimizes the effect of your battlefields and college buildings and generally makes the community less attractive. The tourist industry is the fourth largest in Pennsylvania and possibly the largest in Gettysburg. You want to keep that trade and anything that detracts unnecessarily from the battlefield idea of the town hurts that trade."

"Gettysburg has a number of prime examples of overdoing the use of signs. During a trip through the town today I saw one tourist house with seven signs. Surely nothing should be done to interfere with the tourist trade, but when a tourist sees the huge number of signs he is repelled rather than attracted by them. At one business establishment I counted 72 signs, on one store there were 14 signs. It is a matter of taste and the overwhelming number (Continued from Page Four)

TOWN TO SEEK STATE AID FOR COMFORT BLDG.

The First National bank of Gettysburg was designated depository for borough funds at a meeting of the town council Monday evening, with the stipulation that it furnish $50,000 security. It may deposit with the Federal Reserve bank in Philadelphia as collateral security, United States municipal or county bonds with a market value of 120 per cent of the security figure.

A request from Richard Duterra for a new sewer line in Queen street was referred to the sewer and utilities committees, who were also directed to determine whether the borough could obtain state aid in building the sewer.

Borough Engineer LeRoy Winebrenner told council 800 feet of sewer would have to be laid from South Washington street, the sewer in Steinwehr avenue being too high. Mr. Duterra's property is within the borough limits, he said, and council might be legally obligated to provide a sewer. The sewer may be carried through a proposed street not yet dedicated.

Seek State Funds

The borough secretary was directed to ascertain whether state funds could be obtained also for a new comfort station in the town, and to find out if such funds were available, how much, and for what purposes they could be used. A letter was read from the Soroptimist club endorsing a public comfort station. Burgess C. A. Heiges also stressed the need, asserting that as many as 150 persons use the one at the YWCA on Saturday nights.

A proposal to amend an ordinance to allow installation of gasoline storage tanks to within 300 feet of a street or highway instead of limiting the distance, as now provided, to 500 yards, was laid on the table and sent back to the ordinance committee for further study.

The amendment was brought forth by the proposal of a gasoline concern to install tanks along the Reading railroad near Washington street. Adoption of the amendment would have left the way open for others to install tanks in any part of the town, it was admitted by Counsel Eugene V. Bulleit, who said the only way it could be stopped was by zoning the borough or (Please Turn to Page 4)

Sinclair Station Burglarized Today

The Sinclair service station on Buford avenue was burglarized of over $50 in cash early this morning, borough police said today.

Floyd Miller, operator of the establishment, discovered the theft upon arriving at the station this morning to open for business, Borough Police Chief Robert C. Harpster said.

The burglar, Harpster added, smashed a glass in the rear door, then reached in and unlocked the door. Opening the cash register the thief or thieves took $9 in one dollar bills, all that was in the register and then found a bag full of money that had been hidden in the establishment. From the bag was taken $15 in wrapped nickels, three $5 bills, some $10 bills and three $1 bills.

LIBRARY MEETING

The April meeting of the board of directors of the Adams County Free Library association will be held Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the library rooms at 135 Carlisle street. The time for the meeting has been advanced one day. The regular time is the first Friday of each month.

Field Travel Is Increasing

A return to the volume of pre-war tourist travel on the battlefield is indicated in the report made today by Dr. J. Walter Coleman, superintendent, for travel during March.

During the past month there were 588 long guide trips and 152 short trips which totaled 10 times more than the travel in March, 1945. According to estimates at the park office approximately 2,500 persons traveled the field with guides. A chart kept for a long period of time reveals that approximately one person in seven travels over the field with a guide which would mean that approximately 17,000 persons visited the field last month.

A check of the records reveals that in March, 1940, there were 301 long guide trips and 300 short trips.

LICENSES OF TWO HUNTERS TO BE LIFTED

Rollin Heffelfinger, Harrisburg, acting chief of the division of law enforcement, this morning told Roy Walter Hardman, 17, Fairfield R. 1, and Theron M. Bair, 23, Littlestown R. D., that he would recommend to the state commission that hunting privileges of both be suspended for the next two years, following hearings on two hunting accidents held today in the office of Justice of the Peace John H. Basehore.

Both men wounded companions in hunting accidents last November 3. Both had paid all medical bills in connection with the shootings and neither was being sued by the victims. The victims in each case appeared before Heffelfinger to state they have recovered from the wounds, that all damages have been paid and that they do not plan suit.

Hardman told the state referee that he had been hunting with a group and had stumbled and fallen. As he stumbled the gun had gone off, he said, with the charge striking William Carson, 12, Fairfield R. 1. Hardman said he had taken Carson to the Waynesboro hospital immediately and had paid all the bills in connection with the medical care. Carson's testimony was the same. Hardman voluntarily surrendered the gun to the state officer following the hearing, asking him to dispose of it.

Bair said he and the victim of (Please Turn to Page 6)

Force Ribbentrop To Admit Steps He Took Against Jews

By DANIEL DE LUCE

Nuernberg, April 2 (AP)—Joachim von Ribbentrop angrily admitted before the International Military Tribunal today that he had upbraided Benito Mussolini because of Italian mercy to Jews in southern occupied France.

Earlier he testified that his German foreign office always sought to soften Nazi anti-semitic measures in Europe.

Confronted with captured German records which depicted him in the role of a special anti-semitic envoy to foreign governments, the former German foreign minister conceded that the documents were substantially correct.

"I knew of the fuhrer's plan to resettle European Jews in east territories, or later in Madagascar or North Africa," Von Ribbentrop said. "Because a large-scale espionage system was discovered among Jews

W. STALLSMITH NEW MEMBER OF TOWN COUNCIL

Wilbur J. Stallsmith, former burgess of Gettysburg and a former first ward councilman, Monday evening succeeded Vernon B. Corle on the town council from this ward. Mr. Corle several weeks ago was promoted to be manager of the water company in Greensburg, Pa., and Monday night submitted his resignation as council member.

Mr. Corle succeeded Mr. Stallsmith on the borough council a few years ago when the latter resigned because he was employed in York.

The resignation of Paul A. Kinsey, as a member of the recreation board, was also submitted. Both his and Mr. Corle's resignations were accepted with regret. Mr. Kinsey has received a promotion which also takes him out of town. Burgess C. A. Heiges filled this vacancy by naming Glenn L. Bream to the board.

Mr. Stallsmith's appointment was recommended by the other two first ward aldermen, George D. March and Harry J. Troxell.

On Youth Committee

Council President Ray M. Hoffman named Councilmen March and Troxell to represent the council on a youth center and youth activities committee, at the request of Dr. Dwight F. Putman, who, with Mrs. Lester Scott, appeared at the council meeting to urge a permanent setup for youth activities.

Dr. Putman said that groups interested in this youth work felt that a permanent, standing program should be formulated rather than to go out periodically and haphazardly to solicit funds, and that the program, instead of being confined to a winter program of canteen dances and similar activities, should be expanded.

The speaker requested that the council name two of its members to meet with representatives of other groups for study and to decide upon a youth program for the community on a permanent basis.

ALUMNI COUNCIL TO MEET

The alumni council of the Alumni association of Gettysburg high school will meet this evening at 8 o'clock at the YWCA building. It has been announced.

C. E. HERRING EXPIRES EARLY THIS MORNING

Curtis E. Herring, 52, died suddenly at his home at Orrtanna this morning at 12:50 o'clock.

Dr. C. G. Crist, Adams county coroner, investigated and attributed death to a cerebral hemorrhage.

Mr. Herring had been in his usual health Monday and had plowed on his farm throughout the day. He returned to the house about 5 o'clock and complained of feeling ill. After lying down before supper, he completed his evening duties and then visited his father, George Herring, who resides nearby. He retired at 9:30 o'clock. About 12:30 o'clock his housekeeper, Miss Stella Bowman, heard him breathing unnaturally and summoned a physician but he was dead before his arrival.

Funeral on Friday

The deceased was a native of Adams county, a son of Mr. and Mrs. George Herring, Orrtanna. He practiced farming all of his life. Mr. Herring was a member of Flohr's Lutheran church and was a director of the Adams County Farm Bureau association and the Adams County Egg Cooperative. His wife, the former Alice Deardorff died 11 years ago.

In addition to his parents he is survived by five children, Melvin, Cashtown; Chester, with the navy at Norfolk, Va.; Jay, at home; Ira, with the navy in New York, and Glenn, at home; one granddaughter, Phyllis Herring, Cashtown; eight brothers and sisters, Mrs. Howard Saum, Orrtanna; Dorsey, Orrtanna R. COUNCIL PLANS TO PURCHASE A NEW POLICE CAR

Gettysburg's police car, characterized by various members of the town council at Monday night's meeting as "in bad shape," will soon be replaced by a new, 1946 model, if council acts favorably on bids to be submitted at a special meeting of council April 15.

Council directed that the borough advertise immediately for bids for a new car. Ten days must elapse after advertising before they may be opened.

Council referred to its highway committee a proposal that the borough purchase a four-wheel drive army truck for the highway department to replace an International truck. Mr. Winebrenner reported that the latter was not heavy enough to push snow. An army truck can be bought for between $600 and $700, he said he had been told. Savings on extra truck hire in snow removal and hauling stone were cited.

Seek Oil, Stone

Council authorized the advertising for bids on road oil and stone, and was informed that the state has approved its highway program. The question of buying additional peat moss for center square to keep down the growth of weeds was referred to the property committee.

Use of DDT in a war against mosquitoes was left with the mosquito committee. Councilman H. M. Oyler reported he had obtained prices on the material if the borough can obtain permission to use it. It was pointed out that DDT might kill or injure chickens, bees and birds, as well as the mosquitoes.

Council voted to install 18 additional parking meters on Chambersburg street west of Washington street, as far as they will go. Members were opposed to removal of meters north of the railroad track on Carlisle street. Twenty-nine meters would be needed to complete the block on Chambersburg street.

Council Adopts Fast Time For Meetings; C. Of C. Recommends Daylight Saving Time

Gettysburg, or at least 80 per cent of the community, will adopt Daylight Saving time early on the morning of April 28, according to conclusions reached after a series of decisions here this morning.

A. The Chamber of Commerce directors recommended adoption of Daylight Saving time. The "overwhelming" majority of members favor it.

B. Five members of the Gettysburg School board told The Gettysburg Times that they favor Daylight Saving time and will so vote at the next meeting of the board April 9. Two members of the board could not be reached.

C. The three Gettysburg Furniture factories will adopt Daylight Saving time if the Gettysburg schools turn to the new time.

D. The Gettysburg Throwing company will adopt Daylight time if the School board adopts the new time.

(Spokesmen for the above named factories said they favored Daylight time but did not want to adopt it unless the schools operated on the same time. This was done, they said, so as not to conflict with the meal hours at the homes of their employees.)

E. The Majestic and Strand theatres will operate on the new time, to conform with school board action.

F. The Gettysburg-Harrisburg Transportation company will operate its buses on Daylight time.

G. The parochial school will adopt Daylight Saving time to conform with public school hours.

H. Gettysburg college will operate on Daylight Saving time, if Gettysburg does.

The directors of the Gettysburg Chamber of Commerce recommended the adoption of Daylight Saving time here this year, at the regular April meeting of the board Monday evening in the C of C offices.

President Henry Garvin reported that he had polled 41 members of the Chamber and that 35 had expressed themselves as favoring Daylight time. The directors then instructed the president and secretary to poll the rest of the members of the Chamber this morning to ascertain their opinions.

Shortly before noon President Garvin informed The Gettysburg Times that Chamber members are "overwhelmingly in favor of Daylight Saving time in Gettysburg this year." There are 75 members in the local Chamber.

Chamber Decision

The Chamber directors discussed Daylight time for several hours Monday evening and the members voted solidly for the new time to conform with similar action taken by surrounding communities and the majority of cities and towns in Pennsylvania.

The Chamber action stated: "The Chamber of Commerce goes on record as favoring Daylight Saving Time. A poll shows a very large majority very much in favor of changing to fast time. A large number of industrial concerns, trains and buses, radio and surrounding communities are also going on daylight time. In order not to be out of step with neighboring communities, the Gettysburg Chamber of Commerce is forced to take this step."

Council directed that the borough advertise immediately for bids for a new car. Ten days must elapse after advertising before they may be opened.

Runaway Youth Is Involved In Crash

Damage amounted to $275.00 to a car driven by Sterling K. Shindeldecker and owned by his father, James E. Shindeldecker, 217 West Middle street, shortly after noon Monday when a machine driven by Leon W. Page, Jr., Alexandria, Va., R. 2, backed into the Shindeldecker car on West street.

Chief of Police Robert C. Harpster said the accident occurred when Page drove past a red light on West street and then attempted to back crashing into the Shindeldecker car. When police investigated they found that Page, 17, had no means of identification or owner's card. They also found the youth had "played hooky" from high school, and borrowed his father's car without permission to go for a ride. The youth was held until late Monday night when his father, Leon W. Page, Sr., arrived from Alexandria to take the youth into his custody.

Eight arrests were made for intoxication and disorderly conduct, resulting in fines of $50; two for reckless driving with fines of $50 and 13 for motor violations in which fines totaled $40 with two cases pending, the report said. There was one larceny of an automobile.

Two automobiles were stolen, and one recovered, according to Harpster's report. One health case and one juvenile case were investigated; $80 in stolen merchandise was reported recovered, and nine minor complaints probed.

URGE UNIFORM PLAN FOR TOWN IMPROVEMENTS

The restoration of Williamsburg, Va., was held forth Monday evening as an ideal toward which Gettysburg could aim in a discussion on how to improve the appearance of the borough at the April meeting of the Gettysburg Religious Laymen's association.

Meeting in the YWCA, the members of the group which includes lay organizations of every church in the community voted to meet with the local Chamber of Commerce to develop plans to implement the idea of restoring the community's architecture to the 1863 motif and beautify the entire community.

"Residents of the town wish to develop the best looking homes and grounds possible, but there is no overall plan by which the general appeal and theme of the community could be promoted," Dr. J. Walter Coleman told the group. "The person who puts glass about his store front does so with the idea of improving the beauty of his store and if there had been some community idea for some type of architecture then the storekeeper would have followed that plan.

Urges Community Plan
"For example at Williamsburg the A and P store there is not the usual red fronted store—it is a store building in colonial architecture. Strangely enough having that type of store probably brings the manager more business than if he had the usual red fronted store similar to all A and P stores throughout the country. It was so unusual that I went inside just to see if the idea were carried out throughout and made some purchases. The same thing was true for the drug store there. It was called an 'apothecary shop' and looked so much in keeping with an 18th century apothecary that I had to go into it. And when inside made some purchases.

"Thus it would be good business for the community to try to evolve a plan by which, when a house-owner or storekeeper plans to renovate, he can follow some plan which would add to the 1863 character of the community."

"It seems incredible to me that Gettysburg has not advanced the idea that this is the center of America and world liberty," Dr. Thomas L. Cline pointed out. "The great ideals of liberty were expressed here in the most famous speech of all time. The idea of human dignity and liberty and the value of the individual were presented here and spread to all corners of the world. Surely the community should make itself beautiful and at the same time express that historical background so that a person coming here would be able to feel that great ideal just as it is felt at Williamsburg.

A committee comprising Doctor Coleman, Guile W. Lefever and G. H. Roth was appointed to meet with the local Chamber of Commerce to determine what might be done to improve the historical interest and beauty of the community. One suggestion presented at the meeting was that an architect be secured to act as a consultant free of charge to all residents of the town who plan to remodel or build and the development of an architectural display to interest individuals in the Civil War and Colonial periods of architecture when they remodel or build.

Clyde Spangler, George Naugle and Theodore U. Geiman were appointed to study the possibility of holding a picnic this summer for all church organizations of the community. The committee will determine interest in the project and its feasibility and report back at the next meeting of the group in May.

BIGLER DRAMA CLUB LAUDED

A play, "Dawn," presented by members of the Peter Pan Players of Biglerville high school was described as "excellent" at a drama meet held Friday and Saturday at Shippensburg State Teachers' college. It was announced today.

Nine schools from throughout the state took part in the non-competitive drama contest at the state teachers' college. Miss Lena M. Boyer, of the faculty of Biglerville high school, was in charge of the group who took part in the play.

Members of the cast included Barbara Kleinfelder, Elizabeth Lott, David Pitzer and Richard Starnier. In charge of properties were Ralph Sandoe and Wayne VanDyke.

The one-act plays were criticized by Thomas Leakey, formerly a member of the University of Pennsylvania English department and now with Time magazine.

Leakey's statements in regard to the Biglerville production were that the play was "timed beautifully, the acting was excellent, characterization was excellent and emphasis was good." He urged however that all high schools present comedies and write their own plays rather than "try dramatic productions."

'Mole,' Mystery Buyer, Caught At Columbia

"C. Mole," who wormed his way into the confidence of auctioneers at a number of sales in Adams county and Emmitsburg areas and then disappeared with cattle which he had bid in without taking the trouble to pay for them was in the hands of police today. He was caught at Columbia.

The defendant's name is Clark E. Moul, Blair Station, York county, state police said today. A man giving his name as "C. HARRIS GIVES TOUGH BATTLE TO BILLY FOX

By DUKE MORAN

Pittsburgh, April 2 (AP)—Blackjack Billy Fox proved conclusively he punches for keeps in running his sensational knockout string to 38 straight last night—but the clouting kid himself admits after a stormy session with battle-scarred Ossie (Bulldog) Harris that he still needs experience.

It took Fox until 2:15 of the last round of a sensational 10-rounder to deck gamecock Ossie for the full count—longer and harder than Philadelphia Billy has had to travel since he first started punching for pay.

Harris, who spotted Fox two pounds at 165, gave everything else away but heart and in that the chunky Pittsburgher was in a class by himself.

Best Bout In Years

The battle gave a crowd of 5,167 which paid a net of $15,847.46 one of the most spine-tingling evenings Pittsburgh boxing fans have enjoyed in years.

Ossie not only threatened to "bleemish" Billy's record by staying the route; he even looked good enough to win until the seventh round when he began to fade badly under the 19-year-old Philadelphia's murdering punches.

Harris went down for the first time for a four count in the ninth round from a short right hook to the body after a vicious left to the head stunned him. He was draped half-in, half-out of the ring when the round bell saved him.

Gives Fox Plenty

Ossie absorbed a terrible lacing in the tenth, before caving in, like a collapsed rubber doll, with 45 seconds remaining. Before the end came, however, Ossie gave Fox one of the worst pummelings the kid has received, drawing blood consistently from Billy's nose with lefts he leaped from the floor to throw. Harris' bobbing, weaving tactics puzzled Billy and made him miss badly most of the way.

"It was one of my hardest fights—he worried me plenty," Billy said after the fight. "I guess I still need experience and Ossie sure gave it to me tonight. He's a dead game fighter, that man."

Training Camp Briefs

(By The Associated Press)

Daytona Beach, Fla., April 2 (AP)—With Mickey Owen gone to the Mexico league and six important members of the squad ailing, the only bright note in the camp of the Brooklyn Dodgers is the flashy twirling being exhibited by Hal Gregg. The fast-balling righthander pitched a two-hitter in seven innings yesterday against Jersey City's Giants, faced only 21 batters and fanned seven.

Houston, Tex., April 2 (AP)—Having walloped their Beaumont, Texas league farm club 17-0 yesterday, the New York Yankees hope to flash some of the same hitting power against the Houston Buffs, another Texas league squad, today. Charley Keller and Joe DiMaggio gave the 7,571 fans at Beaumont an eyeful of their clouting prowess. Keller poled two homers and drove in seven runs while DiMaggio connected for a homer and four singles in five trips to the plate.

Miami, Fla., April 2 (AP)—The New York Giants' roster has been pared down to 32 players which is nearly as many as Manager Mel Ott will carry through the regular season.

San Antonio, Tex., April 2 (AP)—The Chicago White Sox and the Pittsburgh Pirates brought their exhibition tour feud here today with Acting Manager Mule Haas of the Pale Hose exulting over the performance of Don Kolloway. Making his first appearance at second with the first team yesterday, Kolloway belted a home run, triple, single and drew a walk in four times at bat as the Sox blasted out 17 hits in a 9-4 victory over the Pirates.

Charleston, S. C., April 2 (AP)—The Philadelphia Athletics let three more ball players go today. Outfielder Frank Demaree, drafted from Portland of the Pacific Coast league, was released unconditionally, while Ray Poole was optioned to Savannah and Don Richmond sent to Toledo. The A's play the Baltimore International league Orioles here today.

Miami Beach, Fla., April 2 (AP)—Manager Ben Chapman of the Philadelphia Phillies says only 39 players—16 pitchers, four catchers, eight outfielders and 11 infielders—remain in the Blue Jays spring training camp. The Phils start their trip northward Friday.

Canadians One Up In Stanley Cup Play

Montreal, April 2 (AP)—The Boston Bruins will seek to even their final round National Hockey league Stanley cup playoff series with the Montreal Canadiens when they tangle with the pennant-winning Canadiens in Montreal tonight.

Montreal nosed out the Bruins, 4-3, in overtime Saturday night in the opening game of the best-of-seven series.

Harrisburg, April 2 (AP)—The Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association's board of control has abdicated itself as a tribunal of final appeal in intra-district eligibility suspensions, placing the respective district committees in complete authority.

PIAA Executive Secretary Edmund C. Wicht said the district committees now have the ultimate right—without appeal—to prohibit any PIAA school from taking part in athletic contests with non-member schools whose eligibility rules do not conform with those of the PIAA.

Heretofore, Wicht explained, appeals were invariably taken to the board of control after the district committees handed down adverse decisions forbidding unsanctioned contests.

The board of control also reported it has accepted for PIAA membership Brookville Junior high school of Brookville, Jefferson county.

LOUIS-CONN GO PRICES BOOSTED

By TED MEIER

New York, April 2 (AP)—The ballyhoo wheels started revolving in earnest today for the most fabulous fight in boxing history—the return heavyweight title bout between Champion Joe Louis and Billy Conn at the Yankee stadium on June 19.

Challenger Billy, the Pittsburgh dandy, looking in fine shape at 190 pounds, was scheduled to shove off to his permanent training headquarters at Greenwood Lakes, N. J., 24 hours after Promoter Mike Jacobs had fixed a top price of $100 for ringside seats, the highest ever charged officially for a fight.

This is 300 per cent more than the $25 for the first Louis-Conn shindig at the Polo Grounds in 1941 and 100 per cent more than the $50 top charged for Tex Rickard's famous fights involving Jack Dempsey in the "golden twenties" era.

Will Set Record

Announcement of the $100 tariff, at which Jacobs previously had hinted, plus a scale of $50, $30, $20 and $10 for less advantageous seats in the $100,000-capacity stadium, assured a record gross state of $3,000,000 or better for the long anticipated return go.

The present gate record is the $2,658,660 paid by 104,943 spectators for the second Dempsey-Gene Tunney scrap in Chicago in September, 1927, when the still debated "long count" occurred. Rickard charged an official $40 top for this one, but unofficially was reported to have sold the first three ringside rows at $100 a seat.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, April 2 (AP)—The Yankees are going to put up a "ceiling" on their season sales of box seats, including membership in their very exclusive stadium club, because of the amazing demand for these expensive bits of pastboard. The guys along the boxing beat figure Mike Jacobs has plenty of courage announcing his $100 price tag for Louis-Conn just a couple of days after the customers saw one ex-GI, Marty Servo, make a dismal showing against Rocky Graziano. . . . Columbus, O., golfers are planning a national caddy championship in August with scholarships at Ohio State U. as prizes.

OFF THE TRACK

Leon Fields, a railroad fireman, is quitting the rails to umpire in the Piedmont league this season. . . . Leon will find a lot of difference between flagging tracks and flagging out ball players. . . . Trains can't talk back.

ONE MINUTE SPORTS PAGE

Racing Secretary Frank Woodland of the Saratoga raceway has named a $1,500 race for 2:20 trotters the "Will Gahagan Memorial." He should have picked a better race. . . . When the San Francisco seals made a movie of Manager Lefty O'Doul's hitting classes, Sal Taormina was picked as an example of a batsman with a bad "hitch." . . . So all Sal did was lead the club in training in virtually every hitting department.

SHORT DELAY

When Coach Trevor Rees sent out a spring practice call to his Kent State U. (Ohio) football players, Center Don Blinn sent his regrets. . . . "Am in Nuernberg," Blinn wired. "Can't make spring sessions. But count on me for fall."

CLEANING THE CUFF

Versatile Mike Ryba, who has done almost everything in baseball from pitching to checking the turnstiles, has taken over a coaching role with the Red Sox since two of the Sox four coaches are ailing. . . . Lloyd Waner, supposedly scouting for the Pirates around Biloxi, Miss., suited up every day and spent most of his time showing Birmingham players how to hit. . . . Alabama's intra-squad football game Saturday earned some $20,000 for Charlie Boswell.

TITUSVILLE ATTORNEY DIES

FIGHT PREXIES CHANGE RULES ON FOUL BLOWS

Pittsburgh, April 2 (AP)—The boys who punch for their pork chops and the fans who pay for them both will get a break under a new ruling established here by Pennsylvania's three boxing commissioners.

Aiding the fighters, the commission made a change in the foul rule which says "when an accidental foul of major extent is committed and an injury results to a contestant the referee may permit the fouled boxer to rest for three minutes."

The change does not abrogate, or amend, the non-foul rule whereby a fighter knocked down by a foul blow loses the fight if he does not continue. The new rule primarily is intended to cover accidents such as a blow struck while a fighter is on the canvas, while getting up from a knockdown, or after the bell.

A fighter striking a foul blow still loses the round.

The commissioners said the three-minute rest rule was "for the protection of the public and to avoid a premature ending of a bout without sufficient valid reason."

The public got even better protection—in the region of the pocket-book—from the new regulations covering ringside seats.

To prevent "grogging" of fans for "ringside" seats behind pillars in left and right fields, the commission ordered the number of rows at ringside to be designated with the price to be charged for these seats to be left to the discretion of individual commissioners.

Promoters in the future must submit seating plans showing seats to be sold at ringside "top" This information will be given newspapers in advance.

Other minor changes agreed upon ordered fighters to put on their gloves in the dressing rooms to save time; set 10 p. m. or as near as practicable, as main bout starting time; limited boxers to one ring name only; ruled that working press tickets will go only to legitimate newspaper and radio men staffing fights.

Augusta, Ga., April 2 (AP)—Eight of the nation's top golfers were added to the entry list today of the $10,000 tenth annual Master's golf tournament, which opens here Thursday, raising the number invited to a record high of 95.

The majority of the players expected to tee off in the 12-hole event already are on hand perfecting their shots over the carefully groomed, 6,800-yard course designed by the famous Bobby Jones.

ASSERTS PUBLIC DEMANDS COLOR IN NEWSPAPERS

Harrisburg, April 2 (AP)—Roy M. Bell, superintendent of commercial printing of the Norristown Times-Herald, said today color printing in newspapers is here to stay whether the publishers "like it or not."

Although the cost would be prohibitive right now to the small daily newspapers, he suggested co-operatives could be formed among several small dailies which "would be able to produce color supplements when desired."

Addressing the Pennsylvania Newspaper Publishers' Association mechanical conference at the close of a two-day session, he declared: "Any way you look at it the daily papers will be compelled to adopt some method of producing color in their publications. The advertisers, especially the national advertisers, and the public are going to demand it."

Time Element Drawback
Bell said that although most of the larger dailies are using color "to a great advantage in Sunday supplements," they have not been able to produce it in regular day-to-day editions because of the greater expense and time involved, with the latter as the chief drawback.

The World War II lesson "that economy can not exist without co-ordination between services" was stressed in another talk by Col. Harold T. Gray, president of the Gray Printing company, DuBois.

He added "printing has played an important part in the winning of the war," in the supplying of vast quantities of training, administrative and technical material; the printing of propaganda leaflets "undoubtedly saving many thousands of American lives; the publication of overseas editions of newspapers and magazines, and textbooks, and the front-line printing of maps."

J. Russell Barley, mechanical superintendent of the Allquippa Times, urged harmonious employer-employee relations, asserting:

"I don't mean by this that we should grant concessions to meet the demands of the workers at all

BOYS AND MEN

Into every youngster's life walks a grown-up now and then
Who will long be remembered as the friendliest of men.
He was first to take a boy to a ball game or a show,
Or to teach him arts and skills which he fairly ached to know.
And there's nothing to be found in the goals which mortals plan
Holding more of joy and pride than to be that sort of man.

Every one of us recalls, at the tables where men chat,
One in boyhood's long ago who provided ball and bat.
Or, remembering the need for an understanding friend,
To make happier a boy, had the time and means to spend.
Still we see his hand outstretched; still we praise as best we can.
One who took us to his heart and was just that sort of man.

He'll remember you till death; write a book of you or song.
He'll relate how much it meant on the day you chanced along.
He'll pass on the skills you taught to some lad who needs his aid.
And some boy afraid of life will no longer be afraid.
This has been a youngster's need since the race of men began:
A grown-up for his friend who is just that sort of man.

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

THE FUTILITY OF MEDDLING

Minding one's own business is one of the methods by which to attain success and happiness. If nations could only apply this, they would prosper and never be beguiled into wasteful and tragic wars.

The moment individuals, or nations, depart from attending to their own business, trouble begins and before the dire consequences are fully realized chaos pokes its ugly head into all concerned.

The world needs a thorough education in sanity. You can't meddle with someone else's business and not get burned or rebuffed. We grow in stature every time we help someone else, but we shrink and endanger our own well-being, when we merely meddle—usually because of some selfish purpose. Trustful co-operation alone can save this One World.

Meddle with any of Nature's laws, and there is an immediate penalty to pay! Why we should exalt ourselves above Nature is something to think about. The history of wars is the history of meddling, excepting where the life and freedom of a people have been at stake, and where they have been attacked for their declaration.

Why should asylum be accorded to any, upon this Western continent, who only come here to meddle and build trouble fires? Why do they not stay at home and perfect their own theories of life and government, if they consider them so superior? There is plenty of room for improvement in every nation. But its own citizens, who love it, are the sole arbiters of its life and destiny.

The sacred soil of Freedom is no place in which to sow the tares of distrust, disloyalty, and destruction.

We should be individual helpers, no matter where we live, or roam—but not meddlers in other people's affairs and business. We get gratitude for the former, but only contempt for the latter.

Even meddling for what we think is a noble purpose, is usually resented. This business of trying to save nations that have little, or nothing, in common with our Western way of life, is tricky business, and nothing else. Only those born to freedom can appreciate its precious asset! Proof, in example, radiates afar.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject, "At Home Everywhere."

Spangler's wood-house on Carlisle street, where he cared for many wounded soldiers. Later for 16 years he was in the employ of the late Col. Chas. H. Buehler. DISCORD IN GOP AFTER REECE IS MADE CHAIRMAN

Washington, April 2 (AP)—Harold E. Stassen sounded a discordant note today in Republican praises for the GOP national committee's choice of Rep. Carroll Reece of Tennessee as the party's new chairman.

Stassen, who is almost avowedly in the race for the 1948 presidential nomination, declared it is "well known that I do not approve of Chairman Reece's stand on many issues in the past."

The former Minnesota governor's statement left little doubt about his disappointment over the committee's action in naming Reece—a close political associate of Senator Robert Taft and former governor John W. Bricker of Ohio, over two other candidates, Reece succeeds Herbert E. Brownell, Jr., who resigned to devote full time to his New York law practice.

Veteran Congressman

With the almost solid backing of southern state Republicans, plus some such veterans of GOP political battles as Werner Schroeder of Illinois, Reece won on the third ballot in a torrid committee session.

The 65-year-old Tennesseean, a veteran of nearly 25 years of congressional service, told delegates at a victory dinner last night he realizes the national chairman "cannot make the Republican party or determine its destinies."

That was the same point made by Stassen, who said he did not believe Reece's election "constitutes a declaration by the Republican party as to its policy or platform."

Stassen said significantly he was prepared to cooperate with Reece in this year's congressional elections. He did not go further than that.

SAYS 'RASH' OF

ber of signs in Gettysburg is bad taste. The whole town seems to be shouting at the tourist. There are so many signs that they become meaningless.

Urges Zoning Ordinance

"Continuing on the signs, I felt that the approaches to your town could be cleaned up. There are so many signs along the way that one is repelled by them. And then there are a large number of signs broken down, with the paint peeled off them that give the appearance of a city dump rather than a city beautiful as one approaches the community. Surely the broken signs are not doing their owners any good. I had to stop to decipher what the legend of the signs might be.

"But just because I am speaking so much of the signs does not mean that the signs are wrong—simply that there are too many of them, and they could be a little more original, a little more in keeping with the spirit of Gettysburg. Those men whose signs have fallen to ruin along the highways into town probably have forgotten they ever constructed them, and if they knew of it they probably would remove them.

"A zoning ordinance could regulate the size of signs and the number of them so that everyone would be able to advertise his business without overdoing it, and as a result the community would be more attractive to the tourist and the resident.

"It Can Happen Here"

"Gettysburg is an old community," Pickin added, "but that is no reason to assert that it does not need a good zoning law. Because the community is old does not mean it will not grow. When men and materials are available your community will have a building boom. And when that arrives you should have a zoning law to prevent the few from destroying the value of the property of many. Zoning can regulate the height of buildings, the size and value of them, how far they must be back from the center of the street, how much of a property may be used for building purposes and what types of industry and business may be constructed in any given area. Thus you can prevent an odorous factory from being built in the center of the finest residential area in town. Do not say it cannot happen. It is happening right in Harrisburg today, where a huge plant is going up right in the middle of one of the city's best residential areas. Yet that is not too bad. Suppose the plant were a chemical plant working in sulphur or some other material that caused an obnoxious odor. And there are plants of that type.

"Zoning does not interfere with the great majority of people who want to build according to the ideas of the community. But it does stop the person who would put his personal profit above the welfare of all."

Forty-five members attended the meeting at which the president, James Cairns, presided. Dr. Chester N. Gitt reported that 17 members are planning to attend the district Rotary convention in Lancaster in May. Dr. Frederick Tibbels introduced the speaker John Gaston was introduced as a new member.

In France, we offer it with confidence as having no equal in this country. G. W. Weaver and son.

Jacob F. Taylor, of Harrisburg, has moved into his new store room. He has taken to himself a partner. The firm will be Taylor and Shively.

"War's Over" Says Labor Secretary

Harrisburg, April 2 (AP)—Peacetime restrictions on the employment of women and children in Pennsylvania will return June 30, says Labor Secretary William H. Chesnut, because the war's over "to all practical intents and purposes."

After that date, all permits stretching women's working time from 44 to 48 hours a week and dropping the minimum age for children in industry from 18 to 16, will be voided, the State Industrial Board announced over the week-end.

Chesnut, chairman of the board, said the special permits, which covered establishments employing more than 1,000,000 persons, "were material aids toward the solution of the then existing wartime manpower shortage, and helped to a great extent in the remarkable war production record achieved by Pennsylvania industry to implement the war effort."

through injunction proceedings brought by property owners who might be affected.

Cites Junk Yard

The same relief could be applied in the case of a car storage or junk yard in the east end of the town reported by the burgess, Mr. Bulleit said. The burgess said Glenn C. Bream had cars stored there and informed him he was going to build a garage. He added that he had been approached by a person contemplating the erection of an apartment building nearby, who did not want to build near a junkyard.

Mr. Bulleit said there was nothing to stop location of a garage or junk yard is this part of town unless council passed a zoning ordinance. Citizens can enjoy such a place if it becomes a public nuisance, he added.

The burgess was authorized to have lines painted on the street pavements in school zones, after Mr. Bulleit and others declared that the school signs previously in use here had been declared illegal by the state. The burgess and borough secretary reported they had notified the Reading railroad to make repairs to its crossing on North Washington street.

Borough Engineer Winebrenner was authorized to purchase additional lumber to complete repairs to the runway at the disposal plant. The council also authorized the purchase of 64 flags and 24 streamers for street decoration, to replace worn out and discolored decorations.

NAVAL OFFICERS LOSE SENIORITY

Philadelphia, April 2 (AP)—The skipper of the 10,000-ton cruiser Honolulu—Cmdr. William J. Lederer, USN, 34, of New York City—faced possible loss of promotion seniority today following conviction by a navy court for negligence.

The fourth naval district announced yesterday that Cmdr. Lederer was convicted of "hazarding his ship on the high seas by inattention to conning" (steering).

The Honolulu crashed into the submarine Argonaut in a heavy fog last January 8, 100 miles off the Delaware capes. One man was killed in the collision.

A navy spokesman in Philadelphia who declined quotation said Cmdr. Lederer would be punished by being dropped several numbers on the future promotion list.

Wally Carries On With Brother Dead

Hollywood, April 2 (AP)—Wallace Beery, his voice showing none of the tears that were in his eyes, proved again last night the theatrical adage that the show must go on.

Only hours after his elder brother, Noah, died in his arms of a heart attack, Wallace and his adopted daughter, Carol Ann, made a scheduled radio broadcast of "Barnacle Bill," with another actor in the role Noah was to have played.

The brothers, always close, had parallel careers for many years, both (age and address unavailable), was also convicted by a court martial in connection with the mishap, the naval district announced. He also faces reduction on the promotion list and a fine, the spokesman said.

The convictions of both officers are subject to review by the judge advocate general who can affirm, reverse or mitigate the verdict.

Officials at the naval base said the commander of the submarine was not cited for blame.

on the stage and in films. Their last joint film appearance was last year in "This Man's Navy."

Noah, 63, was stricken here while on a two-week vacation from "Up in Central Park," the hit New York musical in which he was played Boss Tweed. Sunday night he attended Wally's 61st birthday party. Funeral arrangements are pending.

The Salvation Army has approximately 27,000 officers.

TRAINMAN KILLED

Meadville, Pa., April 2 (AP)—An Erie railroad trainman, Robert A. Beatty, 53, of Meadville Route 6, was killed when he fell under the wheels of his own train Sunday, coroner Luther J. King reported.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN

Of Tired Kidneys
If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisons out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day. If the 16 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisons waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up at night, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there's something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. Doan's gives happy relief and will help the 16 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

"FREE HEAT" for Furnace Coil Hot Water

To raise the temperature of a room or of water requires that a fuel give up the necessary thermal units. So even though your furnace coil is in the midst of a roaring fire, the cold water that enters the coil extracts the necessary heat to raise its temperature from the fuel, diminishing the heat output of your furnace just that much. Nor is this "robbing the furnace" a minor matter. It has been estimated that if a furnace coil is to be used for hot water, your furnace size should be increased by 20%. If this is not done, heat for the house is decreased by 20%—quite a sizeable reduction in your winter comfort.

SURPLUS GOODS
SAVINGS CITED

Harrisburg, April 2 (P)—Approximately $1,500,000 worth of federal surplus property has been bought by the commonwealth for its institutions and departments at a "very considerable saving," the department of property and supplies announced today.

The purchases, started as soon as surplus became available, have ranged from fire-fighting equipment to sanitary tissue by the carload.

Two of the fire trucks have been delivered while four or five others are in the process. The paper was delivered by the carload to institutions at Norristown, Woodville, Harrisburg and Hollidaysburg.

Paul S. Worcester, assistant director of purchases, who handles the surplus buying, said savings have resulted because the government's prices are a third to a half under market prices. In addition, the state receives a 40 per cent discount under the law on items bought for State Teachers' colleges and other educational institutions.

Large Quantities
The biggest difficulty, he explained, has been that goods must be bought in "such terrifically large quantities," which sometimes prevents the state from buying some items that it would use in smaller lots.

"We have bought quite a lot of sheets and blankets," he said, adding that some of the sheets were used but still in better condition than those in stock at institutions.

NEW CHAIRMAN
Harrisburg, April 2 (P)—Dr. Charles L. Shafer, Kingston, has been named chairman of the State Board of Medical Education and Licensure. It was announced Monday.

Chapter 29

She opened her eyes to look into the face of Doctor Coat, who was bending over her. She stared up at him in wonder; he gazed back at her with an expression so unutterably woe-begone that her heart sank.

"James...?" she asked.

"The young man? Doing very nicely," he answered. "And how are you feeling now?"

She forgot to answer him. She was looking about the shabby little old-fashioned room where she lay on a sofa; the chairs ranged against the walls, the ancient magazines upon the center table, evidently Doctor Coat's waiting-room. Then at last she was really out of that house.

"What happened?" she asked.

But Doctor Coat turned away his head.

"Oh, please tell me!" she cried, alarmed, and, as he turned back to her, she saw tears in his eyes.

"I have known Emma since she was a child," he said. "I can scarcely grasp this... I... find this... very hard... to credit..."

"Please tell me about Wren!" she said.

"Now, my dear Miss Diana!" he said, with a pitiable attempt at professional cheerfulness, "put off your questions until you've had a good rest. Tomorrow..."

"I can't wait—a minute! It'll make me much worse, not to know. Is Wren—?"

"It's horrible!" he cried. "Unbelievable! A holocaust..."

He began to pace up and down his shabby, brightly-lit little room, intolerably stirred, filled with bewilderment and grief.

"Three dead!" he said.

"Who? Oh, if you'd just please tell me! Can't you see...?"

"Yes, I can," he said. "Only, it's so difficult... I haven't quite grasped it yet..."

They sent a chauffeur for me, and I went... I hadn't been warned in any way. I thought of course it was Emma who had sent for me...

I went to Rufus's room—and I found Wren there, dying from the effect of a murderous assault made upon him; he said by Peter Leonard...

By Peter Leonard... Even then I didn't understand. I looked about the room for Emma and there was no one present but this chauffeur in uniform. He heard Wren's last statement...

"No one will ever believe us—Purvis and me. In court—we shall appear—either fools—or knaves..."

But it isn't hard to deceive people who are utterly unsuspicious. No doubt I am very much to blame. I never examined the patient. I saw him only in a darkened room, heavily muffled. But he had always had that peculiar habit of muffling himself. If there was anything strange about his voice or manner, I attributed it to his illness...

I-I couldn't have suspected that Rufus was dead, buried in the cellar, with no more ceremony than a dog, and that the man I had seen in his place was Wren. It's the sort of thing that doesn't occur to anyone...

He had had similar attacks and Emma understood the treatment of them...

"When Emma told me he wanted to make a will in your favor, I was pleased. I was always fond of your mother..."

"Did you know how she died?" the girl interrupted.

"Why, yes, my dear. Typhoid."

"What makes you think that?" He looked at her in surprise.

"I saw her the week before—the end. She was in the hospital then, and on the road to recovery, we all believed. Then she had a relapse—Don't cry! Don't cry, my dear!"

He drew a chair up beside the sofa, and sitting down, patted her shoulder.

"Don't cry!" he said. "It was a very happy end. She always had the greatest confidence in your father. She was sure he was going to make a fortune for you. A happy life, my dear, and a happy death."

"Just—don't pay any attention—to this," she said. "Go on telling me..."

"I've sent for Purvis," he went on. "It will be a terrible blow for him."

Rufus, or the man we thought was Rufus, was apparently too weak to talk. Purvis drew up the will in the form Emma said he wanted. He had not enough strength to sign his name, but he made his mark which we both witnessed...

How could we suspect anything wrong?

"Wren was able to tell us only the main facts of this—this imposture. Emma had forced him into it by threatening to send his child to an institution. He said he agreed..."

He had rebelled against helping to bury poor Rufus, and in the end had had a physical encounter with Peter in which Peter had badly wounded his foot with a spade. I saw that wound... Emma told him that if he would impersonate Rufus for a few days, until the will was made, he would then pretend to recover and could start to return to Rufus's place in New York, and could disappear on the way. He believed her—then, and he had been promised a large reward. He had planned to take his child to some doctor he had heard of in Switzerland. But he was well aware that his life was in danger. He felt that as long as you were in the house, they would not dare to make away with him.

"I don't know whether in any case he would have been allowed to leave the house. I am afraid not. I am afraid that I should have signed a death certificate without any proper examination..."

And looking back upon it now, I think... But that's too horrible!"

"You mean I was to die, too?"

"She told Purvis and myself that you were brooding over your responsibility for your uncle's attack of illness, and that she found you had suicidal tendencies..."

I cannot credit this... I have known Emma since she was a child...

"Shes gone?"

"She and Peter."

"But Miles?"

"We found Miles—dead—in the dining-room. He had shot himself."

Field Marshal Gort
Expires In London

London, April 2 (P)—Field Marshal Viscount Gort, 59, former chief of the British Imperial Staff and a distant cousin of King George VI, died Sunday in Guys hospital after a long illness.

Gort, who led the famed retreat from Dunkerque in 1940 as commander of the British Expeditionary force, underwent a serious operation last November. He was reported to have recently suffered a serious relapse.

The noted British commander resigned as commander in chief and high commissioner for Palestine last fall because of failing health and came to London for treatment.
